Dedication

We affectionately dedicate the 1946 Reveille to Wally, our untiring favorite printer whose ready wit and understanding nature mark him a campus favorite.

His "personality-plus" makes the printshop a focal point of activities. Long after all other offices are closed, students with weighty problems—everything from date to last minute invitations—come seeking sympathetic guidance. Efficiency, cooperation and hard work has earned for W. A. Wallerstedt prominence among Fort Hays State faculty.

IN MEMORIAM

To those former students of Fort Hays Kansas State College, whose patriotism, valor, and fidelity helped to end this war, we pledge ourselves to preserve those ideals for which they gave their all.

*Their names and faces are mere images upon the written page,
but in our hearts their smiles
--their greetings will be imprinted forever. They shall not be forgotten.*

The men of this year's Tiger team who met the qualifications of the athletic board and were awarded letters for their participation in basketball are Marvin Behnke, Al Riedel, Wayne Wingo, Cecil Calvert, Roger Furgason, Norman Reinking, Ozie Meckel, Nelson Hartman, and Don Livingston.

Campus Glamazons

Intramural tournaments of all kinds sponsored by the W.A.A. afford plenty of opportunity for activity for all the girls on the campus. Hit pin, volley ball, and ping pong are a few of the sports in which unusual skills were displayed by organized campus groups and independents.

At the beginning of the fall semester the W.A.A. sponsored a "get-acquainted" fun fest which was enjoyed by returning students as well as newcomers.

Members of W.A.A. are given an opportunity to earn individual awards. By a special point system a designated amount of credit is given for engaging in various activities. When a specified number of points is earned, a sweater is awarded.

The officers include: Josephine Goodnough, president; Rita Stramel, vice-president; Gertrude Miller, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Bert Bergland, sponsor.

W. A. A.

Hubba Hubba Gals

Swimming, archery, softball, ping-pong and orchesis all combine to keep these young ladies in form—and what form. Vitamin Flintheart has nothing on these girls when it comes to keeping fit.

It's all in fun, and fun for all with them, for no matter whether the call is for batter-up or swing-your-partner, they're right in there pitching.

Football King, Queen

Crowned during intermission of a varsity held in their honor, Al Riedel and Georgia Wolfram became the 1945-46 basketball king and queen.

This popular pair, chosen by the K-Club and Tigerettes to reign over the basketball season, were proudly hailed by the entire campus as they marked the return of sports to its pre-war place.

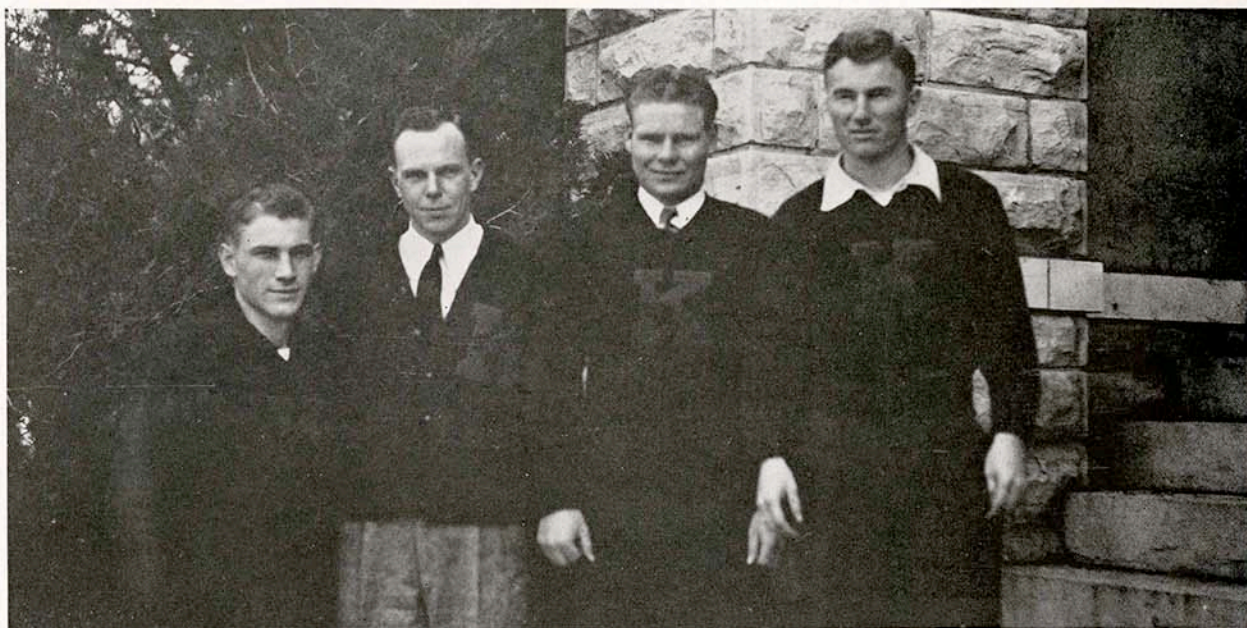

Bengal Pepsters

the Coliseum ring with the familiar Fort Hays State yells.

Backed by the pep committee these 1945-46 cheerleaders proved their worth both at pep rallies and games, really cheering the team on to victory.

Using both the tactics of "O.K. freshman, sound off" and "Come on, everybody, yell" this peppy trio Nickie Linnenberger, Doris Peirano and Virginia Van Gundy stirred the students school spirit and made

Genial Generals

Returning once more to a semblance of its post-war importance, "K" Club, under the capable leadership of Marvin Behnke, has seen an increase in both membership and prestige. Other officers include Les Pelzel, vice-president and Al Riedel, secretary-treasurer.

Any Tiger who has earned a letter in any major sport is eligible to membership in this organization.

K-Club

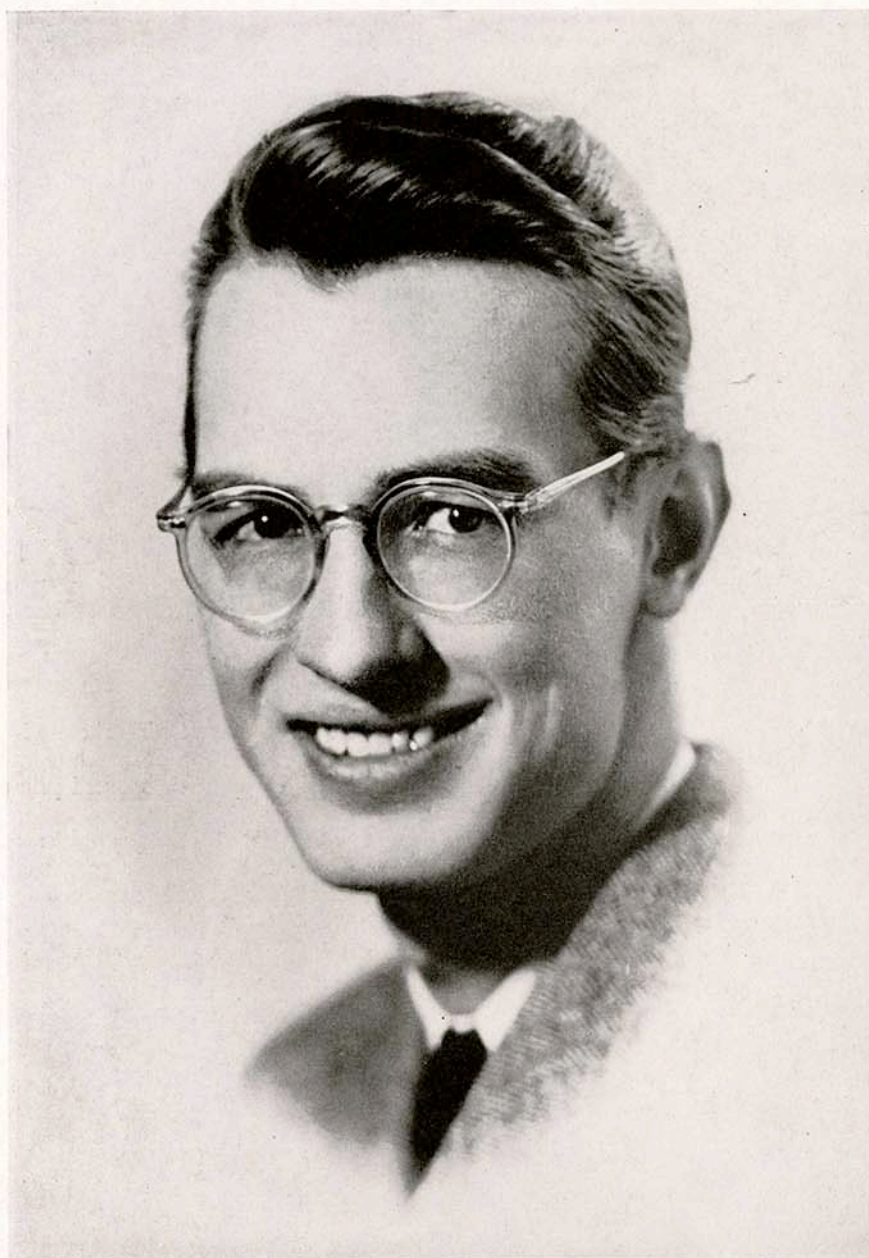

Lady Tigers

In colorful black and orange sweaters, these vivacious ladies lend a helping hand to the cheerleaders and make the Coliseum ring with their spirited yells at all sports events.

Officers of the group are Elda Johnson, president; Elinor Brining, vice-president; Agnese Turman, secretary; Esther Hueftle, treasurer and Miss Dorothy Spencer, sponsor.

Reveille

Dear Reader: Yes, here I am, your Yearbook for 1945-46. As you leaf through my pages, you should find recorded a sampling of all the activities and events which made this year at Fort Hays State. It is my hope that as you turn to me again in the years to come, you live again in memory all the happy hours you spent here. The untiring editors and staff who slaved long hours to create me were Overdue stories, late tips, evasive beats and beat-up typewriters are only a few of the numerous headaches borne by the co-editors and staff in their efforts to put out the traditional Thursday edition of the State College Leader. "Meet that noon deadline" has become the familiar by-word of W. A. Wallerstedt, who without lino-type assistance during the first semester still took care of both the student and alumni circulation.

Leader

The leader staff for the year included: Mildred Knight and Elinor Brining, co-editors; Corinne Miller and Jerry Wilson, co-business managers; Glenn Neumeyer, Estella Hayes, Tom Ungles, Elmer Denning, Carmelita Singel, Gertrude Miller, Doris Kinsinger, Evelyn Rockwell, Mary Lou Fellers, Jim Simmons, Bertina Johnson, Doris Robinson, Louise Stillwell, Marvin Swanson, Joan Avery, Jo Monsen, Betty Read, Mary Jane Kitchen, Gladys Oliphant, Betty Pate, reporters. Printing instructor—Walter Wallerstedt. Faculty adviser—Wendell Kellogg.

Women's Leadership

Are Leading Ladies

Women's Leadership—with its membership limited to fifteen—has as its chief aim the promotion of leadership among college women. Membership is based on service, scholarship and character. The members are chosen by the members of the faculty and standing members of the organization.

As special projects this year, the group chose to file the applications for the Friday night open-house. Other activities included sponsoring a book drive, selling Delators, acting as ushers at school programs and choosing records for the Social Building.

Officers of the organization include president, Thelma Sloane; vice-president, Elda Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Dorothy Galloway. The faculty members are Miss Elizabeth Agnew, Miss Clarice Short and Mrs Nita Landrum.

Active Artists

By sponsoring exhibits in the Industrial Building as well as in the downtown Chamber of Commerce window, the Art Activity Club makes practical application of classroom theories. Outside speakers and demonstrations provide programs for bi-monthly meetings.

Officers include: president, Gertrude Miller; vice-president, Mary Zinszer; secretary-treasurer, Erma Lee Krummery; sponsor, Art Club Mr. Drew Dobosh.

Resourceful Writers

Officers are Mildred Knight, chancellor; Dr. McGinnis, vice-chancellor; Carmelita Singel, scribe; Dorene Pryor, warden of the purse; and Marva Lange, keeper of the parchments.

Masculine Moralists

Y.M.C.A. was reorganized the first semester, and grew with the increased enrollment. Y.M.C.A.

Don Slechta was president; Roger Ferguson, secretary-treasurer and Glenn Neumeyer, program chairman. Mr. Stanley Dalton is the faculty sponsor.

The Y.W.C.A., sponsored by Miss Rosella McCarroll and Miss Mary McCormick, carried on an extensive program this year.

Officers of the organization are Mildred Knight, president; Dorothy Tuttle, vice-president; Creta Sproul, secretary and Dorothy Harris, treasurer.

World Planners

Sailing off on a magic carpet, members of the International Relations Club attempt to learn the facts of international problems by club forums, well informed speakers and research on current problems.

The club officers are: Elinor Brining, president; Ladene Rouse, vice-president; and Esther Hueftle, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Welty sponsors the club.

Newman Club

Morale Leaders

Stressing religious, educational and social ideals the Newman Club, composed of Catholic college youth, reached their goal of correlating religion with campus life. A series of programs on marriage was one of the year's highlights.

Club officers are: Doris Mae Peirano, president; Edwin Werth, vice-president; Mary Alice Basgall, secretary-treasurer; and James R. Start, sponsor.

Deutsche Studenten

Under the leadership of Herr Norbert Dreiling, president; Herr Richard Clark, vice-president; Fraulein Arlene Labsack, secretary-treasurer and Frau Emma Golden, sponsor, the German Club actively engaged in numerous enterprises during the year.

A Christmas party, which has become an annual affair to the club's program was the high point of the year. With the guidance of Mrs. Golden the club has started a Language Scholarship Fund to be used by prospective students in the language department. The club's programs also include slides on German culture, speakers who speak the language and programs presented by German students. Usually the meetings are climaxed with the serving of refreshments of German food.

German Club

Combining social building sundaes with enlightening conversation, these Spanish foreign language enthusiasts have in one year established an organization that shows great promise.

This year's officers were Mrs. Marie Ferraro, president; Marvin Swanson, vice-president; Virginia Doud, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Modesto Jacobini, sponsor.

Home Economics Club

Scientific Mancatchers

Besides relying on the old adage that the best way to a man's heart is through his stomach, these models of domesticity learn to create fashion masterpieces at half the usual cost. These clever young ladies easily maintain the standard of "the best dressed gals" on the campus.

The Home Economics Club is for majors and minors in the department. The club holds scheduled meetings twice a month of both program and actual activity nature.

During the year the members actively participated in numerous campus affairs. They sponsored nutritional lectures and movies, and at Christmas held a party for pre-school children. The club officers are Erma Prior, president; Wilma Wilds, vice-president; Norma Metheny, secretary; Elaine Grafel, treasurer. Miss Mary McCormick and Miss Alice Beesley are sponsors.

Ingenious Engineers

Combining pleasure with education is the plan of the Engineers Club, an organization devoted to helping engineering majors or minors by discussing their problems, way to overcome them, and the possibilities of entering this field as a life profession. Active participation in preparing the club programs is required of every member. For their formal program there is usually a report presented on some particular issue concerning modern engineering projects.

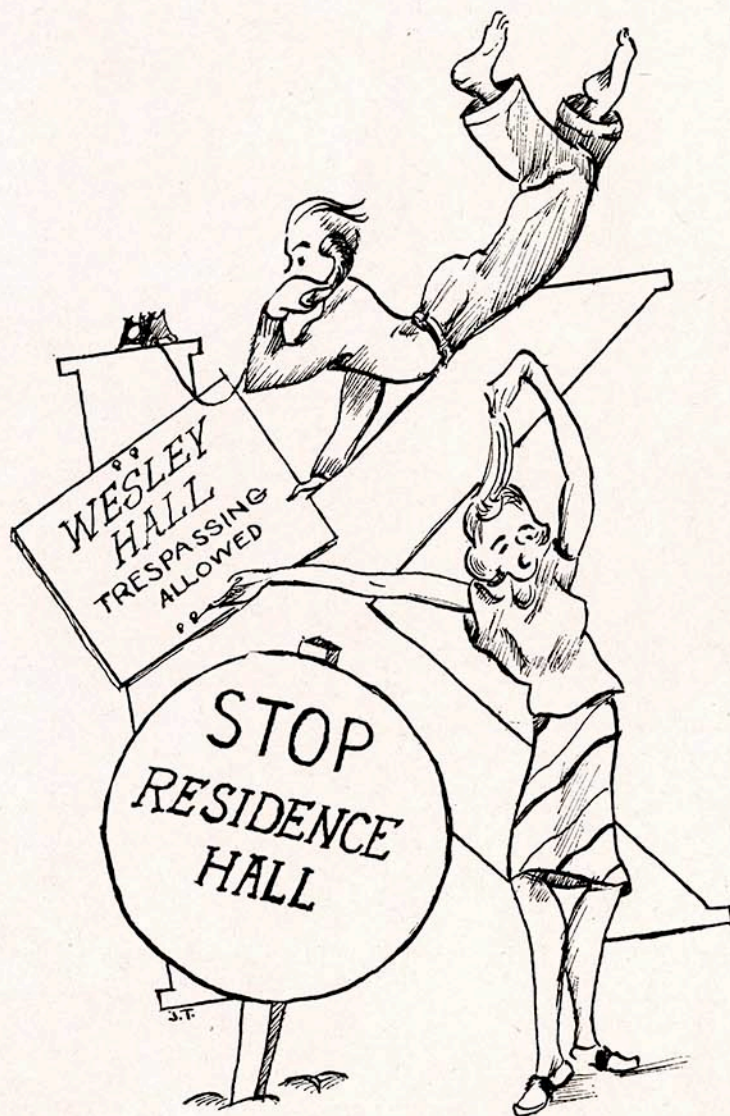

Officers of the club are Al Sutley, president; Kenneth Hink, vice-president; Melford Dewald, secretary-treasurer and Mr. Everett Marshall, sponsor.

Organizations

Governing Greeks

Since its organization on December 12, 1925, the Panhellenic organization has done a great deal toward promoting cooperation and friendliness among the sororities. No longer does each group go its separate way, but through the guidance of the Panhellenic council, many Greek activities are sponsored.

Outstanding on the year's program is the presentation of the shield to the sorority having the highest scholastic average. In addition the social activities are a Panhellenic formal, a Panhellenic tea and a student-alumni Benefit Ball each semester.

Officers of the council this year are Mildred Knight, president; Roberta Brown, recording secretary; Marian Witt, corresponding secretary; Annabelle Davis, treasurer and Miss Mae Paul, sponsor.

"Now when a Wesley girl walks down the street, she looks a hundred per from head to feet."

This favorite Wesley Hall song well describes the fifty girls who have made it their home this year under the guidance of their housemother, Mrs Martha Bowers.

Although the girls are noted for high scholastic standing and capable leadership, they are also in for their share of college fun. At least, it would appear so from the large group of masculine admirers who congregate in the parlor each evening.

Not to be forgotten are the hurried trips downtown for a cup of coffee, the song sessions in the parlor before quiet hours, the many birthday parties and the monthly house meetings presided over by Betty Lee Hall the first semester and June Stothard second semester.

Wesley Hall

Custer Hall

As the midnight hour draws nigh
 Each Custer girl says with a sigh,
 "Though parting is sorrow
 I'll be at Custer tomorrow,"
 And the boy whispers, "Dear, so will I."

Mother Ringer, like the one in the shoe,
 Has so many girls, she's at loss what to do,
 But with love and with care,
 She always is there,
 Whether a Custerette's sick or just blue.

There always is great fun in store,
 For the girls on each separate floor,
 Have gab fests at nights,
 Till blinking of lights
 Send them back to their studies galore.

Dorene Prior, the Hall's president,
 Helps the girls plan every event,
 And at party or ball,
 The girls one and all,
 Work to make every evening well spent.

Residence Hall

Veterans, green freshies, officious sophomores and sedate upperclassmen all vie for attention at Residence Hall, the main dormitory at Lewis Field this year. Inter-class rivalries, political discussions, date problems and even missing shirt buttons—all the many tasks that make parents' hair turn gray—invariably find their way to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Behnke, who are Mom and Pop to the thirty boys who reside there.

"Just like home only more so" is the general opinion at the Hall. One immediately feels at home in its comfortable, well-furnished rooms. Visitors usually find a pinochle game in progress, a group around the piano doing a bit of harmonizing, or a hot ping-pong game in the basement. However "all play and no work isn't for dull boys," so after quiet hours Mother Behnke hurries everyone back to his books.

Social activities and organization problems are actively discussed at frequent housemeetings. Tommy Ungles and Bill Jones shared the position of presiding officer.

Authoritative Orators

Fort Hays speech students reached a new high of achievement in intercollegiate competition during the year.

In the McPherson debate tournament, held Jan. 5, the debate team, Ladene Rouse and Norbert Dreiling, won all of their debates. Only one other team in the tournament won an equal number. At the Rocky Mountain Speech Conference held at Denver University, Feb. 14-16, the same debate team won all their debates, defeating the University of Chicago, the University of Southern California, the University of Utah, Midland College, Nebraska, and Colorado A. and M. College, and ranking higher than such institutions as Leland Stanford and the University of Denver.

The closeness of the competition for first place is shown by the final averages in which the University of Nebraska with 53 points won first; the University of Southern California with 52 won second, and Fort Hays with 51 was third.

Besides debating, Norbert Dreiling entered Newscasting and situational oratory, winning one of two "superior" ratings in newscasting and a rating of "excellent" in oratory.

Mr. J. R. Start, debate coach, entered the debators in two other tournaments, the Kansas Debating League meet at Bethany College in March and the Province of the Plains meet at Kearney, Nebraska, in April.

Pi Kappa Delta

Second Edition

Treading in their parents' footsteps, these are students whose parents attended Fort Hays State. They had difficulty in getting organized and did not elect officers this year, but they plan to have a progressive organization next year.

When asked if there were scholastic disadvantages in attending the same school as his parents each smiled and answered, "No, in fact, it's quite interesting. Some of the same faculty members are still here, so we finally found that dad wasn't a model scholar after all."

Second Generation

Masterful Methodists

Inspiring devotions, worthwhile discussions, peppy songs and tempting food are all a part of the Wesley Foundation plan, whereby these young college people of Methodist preference worship, work and play together. The Wesley Foundation News, the National Methodist Conference and the State Conferences for college youths were added attractions this year.

Officers of the group are Esther Hueftle, president; June Gale, vice-president; Kenneth Kraus, secretary-treasurer and Rev. Dee Walburn, sponsor.

Burning Midnight Oil

Called the "industrious building" of the campus where students supposedly go to prepare the next day's assignments, the library also serves as a center of social attraction. For club meetings or just browsing around, the library provides a wealth of opportunities for knowledge, whether it be in the spacious stacks, in the documents room, or in the museum on the first floor.

It is the busiest building on the campus. Every thing from elections to selling delator is likely to happen in the foyer. Also for those romantic moods there is an excellent record collection on the third floor, and private study rooms when you want to be alone.

Policy Planners

"Just bring your campus problems to us and we'll try to help you" is the favorite expression of the Student Council. The fifteen members of this executive committee of students meet each week and deal with all campus problems brought to their attention. They sponsor school elections, protect campus traditions and regulate social activities.

This organization is composed of all the class presidents, two representatives from each class, and three chosen from the student body at large. Officers are Jerry Wilson, president; Norman Petty, vice-president; and Betty Lowe, secretary-treasurer. Other members are Marjorie McGrath, Lois Lee Myerly, Mildred Knight, Warren Griffing, Dorothy Tuttle, Cynthia Wooster, Jo Monsen, Richard Hoard, Tom Ungles, Dorothy Galloway, Wayne Wingo and Don Slechta. Dr. E. R. McCartney is sponsor of the group.
